Sword In The Stone

Trick: Remove the sword from the stone, when others cannot.

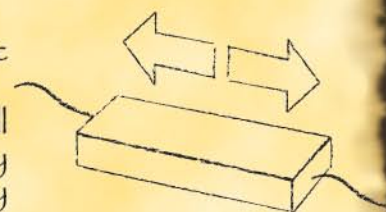

How it's Done: Put on the enclosed yellow magnetic ring with the magnet facing down towards the inside of your palm. Approach an audience member with the sword in the stone and ask them to remove the sword vertically. They will not be able to do it. Say the magic words, and line up the magnet in the ring with the small dot indicator on the sloping top of the "stone". A metal catch inside the "stone" will be released and you will be able to remove the sword. You will need the ring again to re-insert the sword.

Color Changing String

Trick: Change the color of a piece of string by passing it through a magic box.

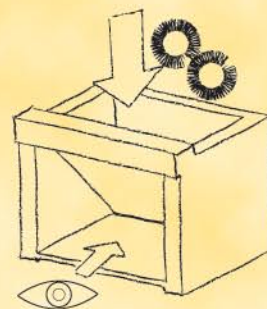

How it's Done: Make sure the string is pulled all the way to one end. Tell the audience that you can make the string change color as you pull on it. Say the magic words and pull the string slowly. The string will automatically change color as it moves through.

Chamber of Illusion

Trick: Objects disappear once they enter a magic box.

How it's Done: Place the pom-poms in your hand and tell the audience you can make them disappear inside the box. Hold the box at eye-level to the observer with one hand, and drop the pom-poms into the top of the box with the other. The mirror creates the illusion of the other half of the box, so objects can disappear behind it.

Audience

Magic Jewel Box

Trick: Determine the color gem that is chosen by the observer.

How it's Done: Ask the observer to pick a colored gem and place it facing up in the box and replace the lid (1). You then place the box behind your back and say that you will tell them which color they picked. While the box is behind your back, take the lid off the top of the box and place it on the side (2). Now bring the box out in front of you, making sure the observer cannot see the opening on the top of the box. Glance at the gem color, and in one swift motion, say the color of the gem and remove the lid from the side of the box as if you were removing it from the top. This happens so quickly that the observer cannot tell what has happened and is shocked you guessed their color.
